

Dena Patterson

Dena Patterson was born and raised in Saskatchewan. Much of her work depicts the rural scenery of the province. She attended the University of Saskatchewan's Summer School at Emma Lake; she has studied under Ken Lochhead, Roy Kyooka, Mrs. L.M. Trigg, Graham Scholes and Jo Parrot, Ph.D. She instructed in oils in the Melfort area through the Cumberland Community College. A versatile artist, Dena worked in watercolor, oils, acrylic, pastels and charcoal. She has done considerable commission work. Her paintings can be found in private collections in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Nova Scotia, Switzerland, Norway and Australia.
